Commercial Litigation

Strong & Hanni provides clients with the resources, experience, and skills they require in commercial litigation. We have represented clients located across the nation, from Fortune 500 companies to small private businesses, in a variety of industries. In addition to considerable litigation and trial work, our Commercial Litigation group works closely with our Business, Tax & Estate Planning group which has a comprehensive knowledge of business organization and transactions.

Strong & Hanni has represented clients before local, state, and federal courts in matters concerning contract actions, antitrust proceedings, product marketing and distribution disputes, regulatory proceedings, fraud and business torts, and securities laws. With extensive experience in trial work, Strong & Hanni is familiar with the processes that face clients in commercial litigation. Our attorneys are skilled in obtaining the necessary documentation and discovery in order to facilitate the litigation process. More importantly, our attorneys are trial lawyers; they understand how to win at trial.

However, they are also proficient in knowing whether a trial or other means of resolution will be most effective for our clients. Our attorneys draw upon years of experience and knowledge in alternative dispute resolution. Strong & Hanni has been very successful in achieving fair settlements for our clients in both federal and state courts, and before a number of government agencies.

We work closely with our clients throughout litigation to ensure that their goals are met. Through this relationship, our clients are able to remain current with the status of their cases and the issues that may affect them. We are committed to resolving our clients' problems as efficiently and effectively as possible.
