Government Liability

Strong & Hanni's Governmental Liability practice group knows that governmental bodies need counsel that is experienced in legal problems which they encounter. From complicated land use issues to personal injury matters to civil rights/1983 claims, Strong & Hanni has provided legal advice and representation to municipalities throughout Utah.

In addition to providing solid representation in litigation matters, Strong & Hanni's Governmental Liability group also provides clients with counsel on how to protect against the complex problems facing modern municipalities.

Over the years, Strong & Hanni has represented various governments and their officials, both directly and through municipal insurance coverage. Attorneys in our Governmental Liability group have served as counsel to governments at the state and local level, and bring a level of professionalism and efficiency that our clients appreciate. Our attorneys provide experienced counsel in governmental liability, civil rights/section 1983 claims, land use, eminent domain, labor and employment issues, general negligence and personal injury actions, and general municipal law matters. We also concentrate on helping our clients prevent losses and procedural errors which often lead to costly litigation. Our services include representation of municipalities, their officials, boards, commissions and employees in administrative proceedings and in litigation in both state and federal courts.

We make every effort to assist our clients in preventing and solving legal problems in an efficient and effective manner. If a problem cannot be resolved through alternative means, Strong & Hanni's accomplished trial attorneys are prepared to take the matter to court. We have a successful litigation record before both state and federal courts, including the United States Court of Appeals and the United States Supreme Court, and various administrative agencies. Strong & Hanni's Governmental Liability group is aware of the constant threats to municipalities and dedicated to helping our clients deal with them.
