Transportation Group

Strong & Hanni's Transportation Group represents insurance companies, their insureds, and self insureds to resolve personal injury and property damage claims against individuals and companies, utilizing effective litigation strategy through trial, arbitration, and mediation.

The attorneys in the Transportation Group represent insurance carriers directly in UM/UIM, PIP and other First Party Automobile issues. We are also experienced in third party transportation liability trucking and commercial Lines cases. Numerous insurance companies and self insured entities have trusted Strong & Hanni for over 75 years to successfully defend and reduce transportation claims.

The Transportation Group also has substantial experience in dealing with issues such as landowner's liability and business premises liability. Our attorneys have defended businesses, homeowners, and landowners against claims including fall-down injuries, negligent operation of equipment, carbon monoxide poisoning, lead poisoning, and all other premise claims.

Strong & Hanni has been very successful in the court room in defending insurance companies, their insureds, and self insured entities. With literally hundreds of cases successfully tried to juries, Strong & Hanni excels with respected and aggressive trial lawyers.

Our attorneys are alert to constant changes in the transportation industry, and are careful to monitor how those changes affect our clients. Due to the close relationship we cultivate with our clients, we are able to analyze their needs and provide the most effective and efficient service.
